DVT has recently launched a new branding campaign for our products and services.

We are pleased to announce that Dunn's Valve Testers (DVT) has just launched a new branding campaign. The new branding reinforces our three principles which guide everything we do - Durability, Value, and Technology. The web experience is vastly improved with an intuitive layout to quickly find relevant technical content. Our company's website and contacts have been simplified so our customers and suppliers can reach us easily.

Our new logo will progressively replace the old branding on all products and documents. The transition is expected to take a few months and all previous points of contact will be redirected over the next year.

Visit our website at dvt.tech or contact us at info@dvt.tech.
